

Moving On

Top Ten Takeaways

- 1 You don't actually want a guy who doesn't make you feel special.
- 2 Don't be too fazed by failure. Yes, it's unfortunate, but it's also quite predictable.
- 3 Breaking up may hurt, but it shouldn't be taken personally
- 4 Your boyfriend's willingness to leave you IS his major flaw.
- 5 If he consistently upsets you and he's a cancer in your life, cut out the cancer.
- 6 Just because people are selfish and conflict avoidant doesn't make them inherently bad.
- 7 A guy who makes you feel safe can't be as exciting as one who doesn't, because unpredictable is more exciting.
- 8 There are plenty of nice guys who'll treat you well, not want to marry you, and stay in touch for selfish purposes. Let them all go.
- 9 Dating in fear is like having a bad car accident and being wary of getting into another car. You have to overcome your fear and get behind the wheel again.
- 10 Assume the best in people until they prove otherwise.
